

The Day Christ Died

6 P.M.
April 6, A.D. 30

THEY came through the pass slowly, like men reluctant to finish a journey. There were eleven of them, robed in white, their sandals powdery from the chalky stones of the road, the hems of their garments dark with dust, their faces molded with concern. These men were part of the final trickle of humans pouring into the walled city of Jerusalem for the Passover observance.

It was 6 p.m. of the 14th Nisan in the year 3790. (It was the year 784 A.U.C. according to the Roman calendar and, in time, would be reckoned as "Thursday," the evening of April 6, 30 A.D.) From up in the pass between the Mount of Olives and the Mount of Offense, the yolk of the setting sun could still be seen hanging between the golden spires of the great temple.

"Fears And Plots"

At the mouth of the pass, the leader of the little group paused. He was taller than the others and His men grouped around Him as though He might say something of consequence. He didn't. He looked across the small valley and His brown eyes caught the beauty of Jerusalem, perched high over the green valleys and the hills now polka-dotted with the tents of 300,000 pilgrims.

Jesus stared at it with love. He had wooed Jerusalem with compassion but it had mocked Him and had questioned the honesty of His suit, and now the city — at least the small part of it that mattered — feared Him and plotted against His life. The evening breeze stirred His garments and the ten Apostles looked upon His face, trying to read something other than sorrow. It was not a "pretty" face. Long ago, the ancients had written that such a one as this would be ugly to those who did not believe in Him, and beautiful to those who did.

"Man Of Sorrows"

(Isaiah wrote: "There is no beauty in Him nor comeliness, and we have seen Him, and there was no sightliness, that we should be desirous of Him. Despised and the most abject of men, a Man of sorrows and acquainted with infirmity, and His look was as it were hidden and despised. Whereupon we esteemed Him not.")

Jesus was a religious celebrity. Many said that He healed the sick, raised the dead, gave sight to the blind and preached a kingdom of love. There were three million Jews in Palestine. The majority of them would never see Him. And yet these people had been awaiting the Messiah for centuries with a fervor beyond comprehension. To those of them who had seen and heard Jesus, He was prophet, or fraud, or Messiah, or magician, or prince of Satan, or religious crank. Perhaps eight thousand citizens believed that Jesus was God and the Son of God — the Messiah.

He Enters Jerusalem

He crossed the Brook Cedron on a stone bridge and entered Jerusalem through the Fountain Gate. There the little group bucked a tide of men outbound to the pilgrims' tents, men who had participated in the third sacrifice at the temple. They carried dead lambs across the backs of their necks, like red furry collars. Some carried them slung by the legs.

Near the pool Jesus started up the broad white Roman steps which lead to the summit of the city. He spoke a few words to those nearest to Him and His solemnity seemed to deepen. At that moment Jesus was speaking the common Aramaic, although with the soft slur of Galilee. Sometimes He spoke Hebrew, a language which only the scholars used at this time, and He was conversant with Greek, the tongue of educated men.

Up Roman Walk

He led the way up the Roman walk, a tall, slender Man whose ringleted hair, parted in the middle as was seemly of men, flowed to His shoulders; for it was a mark of vanity for a Jew to adorn his hair, or cut it so as to expose his ears, or to coil it in any way except to shear it for length.

The cypresses stood tall and straight on the rise of the hill and, far below, the Apostles could see pilgrims crowding in and out of the Fountain Gate like gray ants-moving in and out of a hill. Tonight and for a week hence, they (great numbers of the Jews would commence Passover observance at this time, Thursday, though some believed the Pass-

HARTMAN IS NAMED TO C. C. BOARD TUESDAY

Appointment of Attorney Eugene R. Hartman as a director of the Chamber of Commerce to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of David Blocher was announced Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Chamber Directors at their office in the Plaza Building. President Julian Estep also announced the appointment of William A. Lentz as chairman of the Industrial committee; Attorney Donald G. Oyler as chairman of the Civic and Municipal Improvement committee and Richard Bruce, chairman of the Parking committee.

The resignation of Walter B. Lane as a director was received with regret. In his letter of resignation Lane pointed out that he serves as president of Travel Council and thus under the new set-up for the three affiliated organizations — the Travel Council, Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants — should not serve as a director on another of the groups. President Estep was empowered by the directors to select a successor to fill out Lane's unexpired term.

MRS. LOWER IS SPEAKER FOR SOROPTIMISTS

Mrs. Alice Lower, manager of the cafeterias for the Gettysburg public school system, spoke at the business meeting of the Soroptimist Club in the Adams Electric Cooperative room Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Lower does the buying, plans the menus and supervises the preparation of the food for the high school and Keefeauver School and handles the catering service for Meade and Lincoln schools. She stated that she has a staff of 16 at the high school, where 800 to 1,000 platters, costing 25 cents each, are served each day in three shifts during a 90-minute period, in addition to a la carte service.

A staff of 12 handles the 900 to 1,000 platters served at Keefeauver School. Food is taken in electrified containers to Meade and Lincoln schools. Each Friday a lunch is sent to the Adams County Day Care Training Center. Mrs. Lower said she also serves many special banquets in the high school cafeteria, the profit from which "goes into the cafeteria fund to help cover the low charge for daily platters." Mrs. Lower is one of the most recent additions to the club.

Twenty-eight members attended the meeting with Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, president, presiding. Included in the letters read by Mrs. George F. Eberhart, corresponding secretary, was a letter of appreciation from a new club from Tahlequah, Okla., for greetings sent them by the local club.

The club voted to pay $70 to the American Federation of project of European Villages for Displaced Persons. Two-flat houses, at a cost of $6,000 each, will be built to help with the housing problem for the 300,000 or more displaced persons in Europe still living, since the war, in crowded camps, old barracks, huts and cellars.

FILE ESTATE BOND

EQUITY ACTION OVER MOTEL TO BE ARGUED IN COURT LATER

Testimony in the equity action brought by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Witt, 703 Highland Ave., against Colt Park Development Co. and Steinwehr Development Co. seeking to prevent construction of a Howard Johnson Motel in the Colt Park area, was completed Tuesday afternoon.

Attorneys were told they will have 20 days after transcription of the testimony to file motions after which a date will be set for argument in the case. Following argument by attorneys the court will hand down its decision.

S. Blaine Miller of the Colt Park and Steinwehr Development Companies testified that the name Howard Johnson Motor Lodge "is a trade name leased for a fee and does not represent an entity or corporation." The Howard Johnson Motor Lodge had been listed as one of the concerns against which the equity action was brought.

Kept Plans Flexible

It was testified that a building permit had been issued by the borough to "Howard Johnson Motor Lodge," and Miller told the court that "technically that was a mistake. In seeking the building permit plans had to be given. The plans were stated as for the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge and thus that was the name placed by mistake on the building permit. I didn't think at the time that it was important."

According to Miller's testimony "There never has been a final plan for the development of Colt Park. Overall we planned a residential development, but we wanted to keep the plan flexible. Since we started we have made a half dozen plans, several of which were submitted to the borough planning commission for approval. The final plan was presented to the commission in January of this year."

Miller said that Colt Park had never offered lots for sale east of Johns St. and had "turned down offers by people who wanted to buy them."

Refer To Old Testimony

Testimony from a prior court hearing when the school board sought to buy part of Colt Park as a school site was presented. Miller agreed he had made statements at that time which could imply that all of the Colt Park land was restricted, but held the area he was talking about started west of Johns St. and covered the remainder of the area. The section along Steinwehr Ave. east of Johns St., he said, has always

But he added that what progress Dulles is making probably will not be known until the end of the radiation therapy.

Dulles himself was reported in good spirits and taking an interest in world affairs. Apart from his talks with the President, he has been in daily touch by telephone with people in the State Department, and has kept up with newspaper and radio news accounts of current developments.

YOUTH ADMITS STEALING CASH

Bruce E. Klinefelter, 20, Gettysburg R. 5, signed a plea of guilty this morning before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder to a charge of larceny and fraudulent conversion totaling approximately $2,500. He posted $1,000 bail for May sentence court.

Police said Klinefelter had been working for Kennie's Market, S. Franklin St., successor to Gilbert's Food Market, for about five months when owners noticed a loss of approximately $2,000. Police questioned Klinefelter who later admitted the thefts.

He told police last Saturday night he stole $350 from a cash box and last Thursday stole $18. Both losses had been reported by the store's owners.

Klinefelter had worked as a deliveryman and clerk in the market.

TRAIN STRIKES TRUCK LOADED WITH LUMBER

Damage totaled $600 Tuesday midnight when a box car on the Western Maryland Railroad rammed into the side of a tractor trailer loaded with lumber at the crossing on Carlisle St., borough police reported this morning.

According to the accident report, Eddie Williams, Warsaw, N. C., was driving the truck south on Carlisle St. over the tracks after stopping for the red blinker signals, when a boxcar was being backed east over the intersection at the same time.

Williams told police he saw the blinking lights but did not see a train. He reported stopping before crossing, then continued on. As he was half way across, the railroad car struck the middle of his trailer and right rear wheels.

Did Not See Flagging

F. H. Miller, Hagerstown, who was riding the box car, told investigating officers he "jumped from the car in order to stop traffic since the car had no lights on it and it was hard to be seen."

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Clapsaddle who were driving north on Carlisle St., told police they did not see anyone flagging traffic nor did they see a train until it hit the truck. Mr. Clapsaddle said he stopped for the warning lights.

The engineer of the train was G. E. Baughman, Hagerstown. Officers estimated $100 damage to the box car and $500 to the Williams tractor-trailer.

SAYS TRAVEL COUNCIL MUST HAVE $4,000

A need for more money to carry out projects for the year was outlined at the meeting of Travel Council Tuesday evening at the VFW home, E. Middle St.

Approximately $4,000 more is needed if the organization is to carry out the program that it is hoped can be achieved, President Walter B. Lane told the members present.

Operation of the Tourist Information Center, which last year served 40,000 visitors, costs about $2,600 and Lane said: "I can't see that we can open the Information Center unless we have the money on hand."

Cites Money Needs

Ike Says Red Leader Hurts World Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the Soviet Union's attitude regarding Berlin is so illogical it offers little promise for establishment of a just peace.

With much emphasis, Eisenhower told a news conference the United States will not give one single inch in its determination to preserve the rights and responsibilities of the Western Allies with respect to Berlin.

The President expressed his views in commenting on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's cold attitude toward the proposal by the Western powers for a foreign ministers conference on Germany.

A reporter asked Eisenhower for his views on what the newsman termed the Soviet Premier's informal rejection of the Western proposal. The reporter noted it came without prior notice to British Prime Minister Macmillan at the very time Macmillan was in Moscow for discussion of such matters.

State Inspector Sees Local Schools

The expected inspection of Gettysburg's public school buildings by a representative of the state Department of Labor and Industry was made Tuesday but no result will be known until the inspector files his report at Harrisburg and the department notifies the joint school district of the contents of the report.

Principal G. W. Lefever and janitors accompanied the inspector at the high school and at the Keefeauver, Lincoln and Meade elementary schools. Superintendent H. Edgar Riegle, Business Manager Kenneth G. Reinhardt Jr. and the janitors were present for the inspections.

The local school officials were not told when they could expect the report.

Have Proof Of "Honest Man" At New Oxford

Diogenes should have a look with his lantern in the New Oxford community. There's an honest citizen to be found there.

Charles Albright was asked by the Adams County Commissioners to remove the equipment in the various airplane spotter stations in the county, now that the Ground Observer Corps has been disbanded.

At the New Oxford spotter station Albright found an envelope with a $1 bill in it and an unsigned note: "This is for a window I broke here one time."

Albright took the $1, chairs in the structures, heaters, etc., to the court house. The commissioners noted that the chairs were donated by various patriotic citizens from time to time and "we have no record of who donated them, so if they want them back they'll have to call at the court house."

The commissioners were also studying what to do with the structures. All were built by the commissioners on land donated by owners. Best of the lot is a metal spotter station at the Littlestown High School. The commissioners are considering offering them to the owners of the land they're on — if the law will approve. But before any action can be taken, the commissioners are seeking legal advice to determine just what they can do with the now useless spotter stations.

Also presenting a problem to the commissioners is a pair of black knitted gloves — apparently those of a woman, found after the last court session. They hope somebody calls for the gloves soon.

REINSTATE AIR TAXI PERMIT

HARRISBURG (AP)—The charter aircraft operating permit of William Elmer Sparks, trading as Ferry Service Co., Lock Haven, was reinstated today by the Public Utility Commission.

The commission said it had revoked Sparks' operating permit earlier because he failed to comply with PUC insurance requirements. The PUC said the case arose because of confusion over authorization of Sparks' insurance company to do business in Pennsylvania.

Sparks' petition for return of his operating rights was supported strongly by the Piper Aircraft Corp. in Lock Haven. It pointed to plans of Allegheny Airlines to end flights there this month and said the city would have no air service unless Sparks was allowed to operate.

Piper added that it gets numerous requests for the type of service provided by Sparks.

TO CONFER ON COUNTY HOME

The Adams County Commissioners, their County Home Advisory Board and architects will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the county home to study what the architects believe are the final plans for the new home scheduled for construction this summer.

The commissioners, E. Donald Scott, J. Blaine Bushey and George Kane, said this morning at their meeting in the court house that, if final approval can be given the plans this afternoon, it is possible that "we can ask for bids in about two months."

Bushey said he hopes "we can have the building up and under roof by this fall."

Enlarge infirmary The meeting this afternoon may be the last of numerous meetings that have been held by the commissioners, architects and the advisory board in recent months in preparing plans.

The sessions began with discussion and study of what should be done about the county home, progressed through possible plans to remodel the present structures and then advanced some months ago to plans to build an entirely new structure for the county home and either sell the present buildings or use them for county offices.

Numerous changes have been made on the plans for the county home along the way in accordance with ideas of the various state boards involved in giving approval to the structure, plus, most recently, suggestions for increasing the infirmary portion based upon projected national figures of the age and needs of those who will be guests at county homes in the future.

SAYS TRAVEL

(Continued From Page 1) planned so far. We can pay a secretary to answer the approximately 900 to 1,500 requests received each month from people who want information on Gettysburg. That is our basic obligation, we cannot let that down.

"We have assurance that the North-South Skirmish will come here, but we need to provide them with some facilities. Other sections are almost bidding for the shoot because it will attract 1,000 uniformed men and women and 30,000 or 40,000 visitors. We are obligated for about $1,000 in new folders, which are needed, and there should be some money available for printing, mimeographing pictures, stories, etc., needed to promote the community. We had about $4,000 in income so far. Pledges will bring it to $5,000 but we need more if we are to operate a program that will do the most good for the town."

Reports On Activities Lane reported on action of the board of directors which led to a meeting with Town Council to oppose placing of modernistic lights in the center of the town. He reported that the Metropolitan Edison Co. is seeking other types of lighting more in keeping with the character of the community.

He reported also on plans to place a Lincoln statue here. The Gulf Tourguide Bureau, of Toledo, Ohio, requested a picture of Lincoln at Gettysburg. Five were sent and as a result the Tourguide Bureau plans to complete Lincoln at Gettysburg display this fall.

Committee Reports The group voted to write Congressmen Quigley and Senators Clark and Scott urging approval by Congress of funds for purchase of needed sections of the Gettysburg Battlefield.

A committee comprising Robert Codori, Charles Bender and Mrs. Lester Scott was named to meet with the Chamber of Commerce and the Gettysburg Planning Commission to outline hopes of the Travel Council concerning eventual restoration of the community to stimulate a Civil War community.

Frank Fory was appointed to represent the council at a meeting on traffic to be held by the Safety committee of council Friday evening.

Andrew Larson reported on plans of the "bypass" committee to meet with the state secretary of highways in the near future to urge that any bypass be so constructed that persons driving on the bypass will be able to see at least part of the battlefield.

MOSCOW (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev resumed their talks today in an atmosphere heated up by Khrushchev's latest public avowal that the Soviets will not make concessions on West Berlin or German unification.

Macmillan was obviously shaken by Khrushchev's fiery statement to a political meeting in the Kremlin Tuesday while his British guest was away from Moscow. Khrushchev said the Soviet Union sees no point in a Big Four foreign ministers meeting, will not deal with the Western Allies on German unification and still plans to give the East Germans control of Allied supply routes to West Berlin.

Today's Talk

THESE THREE
I have found it important and inspiring to think often upon ideas, words, and sentiments. There are three words that give hope and happiness to me, and here they are: Courage, patience and humility. If we used these three words as personal teachers, by keeping them always in mind, I am sure all of us would live happier, healthier lives, and be more richly endowed.

Courage is a wonderful word. It has uplifted millions of people. We can do little without exercising it in our daily lives, not waiting for something notable to make the word stand out prominently in our mind. All great characters have had courage. I have witnessed it at work thousands of times. Especially is it displayed among shut-ins, people who have suffered long through illness, and by those wounded in war.

Now the second word—patience. We all know of those who have lived through years of patience. Lincoln, whose recent February 12th birthday we have set aside in honor of his noble life, is but one word character whose patience and exalted heart will never die. Each year he grows greater. And each one of us takes on new patience and kindly deeds.

Finally—humility. How many of us can say that we are humble and kind, with no thought of self assertion or false display? Here again was humility displayed to a remarkable degree by Abraham Lincoln. Like Gen. Robert E. Lee, he wanted to remain in the background and trust God to handle his fame, about which he had no interest. The humble of this earth are its genuine great.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "To Dentists." Protected, 1959, by The George Mathew Adams Service.

Just Folks

DREAMING
A sunbeam danced into my room
This morning as I sat at work
And fairly laughed away my gloom;
I was no more a clerk.
Some way it seemed to change my pen
Into a bamboo pole.
And made me just a boy again
Down at our fishing hole.

There were no furrows in my brow,
No deepened lines of care,
No balance I must find somehow,
Just mirth and laughter there.
And as I sat and watched that beam
Of sunshine dance about,
I cast my line into the stream
And yanked a pickerel out.
Oh, little ray of sunshine, you
Great havoc played with me,
For here I am with work to do,
As idle as can be.
Dreaming, and wishing for the day
When I once more may loiter
As happy as a boy at play,
Down at that fishing hole.

COURAGE IS A BOY NAMED JIM
By Robert Stoddard
Athletic Director and Football Coach
Carmel, New York, High School
In the summer of 1956 Jim Mackey brilliantly pitched his Patterson (New York) Little League baseball team to the championship.

Jim Mackey

We coaches at Carmel High School looked forward to his entrance into our school, not only for baseball, but for football as well. Jim was big for 14; nearly six feet and 180 pounds, he could move with the speed of a young colt. Then, the following year, "Big Jim" began to limp. An examination showed cancer, and an operation removing his right leg was performed. In September, 1957, Jim appeared in school on his crutches, a little awkward, but with a smile on his face.

"I'll have to wait a while for my new leg," he said. If he saw anyone feeling sorry for him, he would start kidding around about how he soon would be able to keep up one of his socks with a thumb tack, and "none of you guys can do that," he would finish.

Wanted To Help
When the first call went out for football candidates Jim asked if he could be one of the team managers.

"Sure Jim," I said, but you have to be with the team every night."

And he was, hobbling on his crutches to fetch the sheets of plays, a roll of tape for someone's helmet. And soon his spirit and enthusiasm began to permeate the whole team.

Typical was the night that Big Jim fell down. The coaches and team were on the field warming up. Jim appeared near one end zone on his crutches, lugging the first-aid kit and my set of plays. All of a sudden one crutch slipped on the turf. Jim went down in a heap.

Able To Joke
My first instinct was to run and help him, but quickly I restrained myself and the other boys "Come on Jim," I shouted, "hurry up with those plays. You're holding up practice." I knew that was the way he would want it. Jim struggled to his feet and came puffing up to us. Depositing the kit on the ground, he said, "Coach, it's a good thing you did not have me carrying the ball for a touchdown then, cause I'd have fumbled it sure as anything."

Jim didn't miss a practice for four weeks. Then one night he didn't appear. I checked and found that Jim was back in the hospital for examination. The result was a shocker. Jim had cancer of the lungs; they gave him six weeks to live.

It was decided not to tell Jim but to allow him to return to school and live as normally as he could. He soon reappeared on the football field with his usual smile and an apology for being absent for the few days.

Habit of Prayer
It is the habit of our football team to say a prayer before each game, asking for guidance and the will to play in true fellowship. The boys also included in their prayer a word for "Big Jim." Then we closed with the Lord's Prayer.

With Jim's inspiration with us, the boys swept through an undefeated season and won the County championship. It was decided to give Jim the football, symbolic of this championship, at the annual football banquet. But Jim was too weak to attend.

Several weeks later, however, Jim appeared at a basketball game, the same big smile on his face, but more pale than any of us had ever seen him. We asked him to stop in the athletic office after the game.

He came in, leaning on his crutches, beads of sweat standing out all over his face and that big smile covering the pain that lay behind it. I scolded him a bit for missing the banquet. "I'm on a diet, Coach," he said with a grin.

Looked To Future
Then I picked up the championship football, which all the players and coaches had signed, and gave it to Jim. "We all feel you worked as hard for this as any player or coach," I told him.

He took it in his hands and as the tears filled his eyes, he said, "Coach, I really didn't earn it this year, but if they ever fit me with that wooden leg, I'll more than make it up to you and the team."

He started to leave, then turned and gave me a long penetrating look which I'll never forget. "Good-bye coach," he said. "Jim, you mean so-long, don't you?"

SEN. PROXMIER STANDS ALONE

WASHINGTON (AP)—A campaign by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) to clip the authority of Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas remained a one-man effort today.

No other senator publicly backed Proxmire's demand in the Senate Monday for revival of the party caucuses to direct and control the party leaders. He said Johnson is exercising "immense powers" without responsibility to anybody but the voters of Texas.

Proxmire, who himself once praised Johnson as the second most powerful man in government, said he will discuss in a later speech the implications of Johnson's leadership "and the power it has generated."

Behind the scenes there were other Democrats who obviously agreed with Proxmire that they have surrendered to Johnson's sweeping authority never before so concentrated in a party chieftain. But these Democrats avoided publicly airing their views.

Proxmire himself said in an interview he had been told by some other Senators they were in sympathy with his views. But he said he wouldn't name them publicly.

PASTOR QUILTS AT LEVITTOWN

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A Congregational minister who spoke out for Levittown's first Negro family said Tuesday outside pressures are forcing him to resign.

The Rev. Dr. Fred Mantley Jr. of the Plymouth Congregational Church told The Associated Press his church's National Board of Home Missions has declared in favor of church integration but refused to back his stand.

He said, "The real reason for my resignation is the reluctance of the Board of Home Missions to shoulder the cost of our action" in running a paid advertisement in the local newspaper favoring integration.

Thirty of the 150 church members walked out in a rift over the ad and over the welcome extended to Mr. and Mrs. William Myers. The Myerses now attend Dr. Mantley's church but are not members.

It was Myers' move into this previously all-white community of 70,000 which touched off nine days of riots, stone-throwing and cross-burning. Another Negro couple has now joined the Myerses in Levittown.

Warriors Falter In Last Period To Go Down 54-47; Jayvees Take Preliminary

After holding a narrow lead throughout better than three periods, the Gettysburg High Warriors weakened in the last quarter to drop a hard fought 54-47 decision to Mechanicsburg here Tuesday evening to close out their home season before a sparse crowd.

Tommy Crist, one of four seniors making their final home appearance, turned in his best performance of the season by dropping through nine goals and a foul. During the second and third frames he accounted for all of Gettysburg 16 points during a span of 10-28 minutes.

Goals by Dick Brandt and Dave Fisher got the Wildcats off to a fast start before Hardy Nichols hit from the side and Bob Furney sank two fouls. After the Cats went ahead 8-4, Don Coldsmith hit on a jump shot and Nichols from outside. Dick Rohrer looped a jump toss to give the visitors a 12-8 lead with 3:08 minutes left. Eight straight points put the Warriors in front as Coldsmith netted a foul, Furney a lay-up, Coldsmith from the side, Crist on a long toss and another foul by Coldsmith. Dick Brandt and Furney matched goals as Gettysburg led 18-14 at the quarter.

Hits From Midcourt
Four shots, all from midcourt by Crist, kept the locals on top during the second frame after Rohrer and Coldsmith matched shots to open the round. The Wildcats' scoring was evenly divided while the whole Warrior attack fell on the accurate tossing of Crist. At half time Gettysburg held a narrow 28-27 advantage.

At the start of the third period Mechanicsburg pushed ahead 32-28 on a foul by Tom Blosser, a goal by Blosser and another by Dick Brandt. Crist then took over with four quick goals on a long shot, side toss, fast break and steal. Furney added a lay-up to make it 38-32 with 3:49 left in the frame which ended with Gettysburg leading 40-38.

Coldsmith tossed in a goal to open the last period but then Mechanicsburg reeled off 12 straight points, six on free tosses plus a pair of goals by Barry Brandt and a twin-pointed by Blosser. From then on the outcome was sealed. Furney fouled out midway in the last quarter while other Warriors showed the effects of their recent illnesses.

Mike Small watched the game from the stands, being side-lined last week because of measles.

The Warrior reserves got sweet revenge for a double overtime loss in the first half by capturing the preliminary game 43-36 with a fine all-around exhibition. Gettysburg jumped to a 10-3 lead in the first period and led all the way although the visitors pared the margin to within one point midway in the third frame.

Finish At Delone
Both Gettysburg teams will conclude their season by meeting Delone at McSherrystown Friday night.

Tonight's Game

Biglerville, Littlestown and Bermudian won victories in the Adams Division of the Adams-Franklin Basketball League Tuesday evening as all but two teams concluded their regular seasons. Tonight Biglerville plays at Big Spring to make up a postponed game from January 2.
--

Biglerville notched its 15th victory of the campaign by turning back invading Fairfield 64-52. It took a strong finish for the Canners to turn the trick as the scrappy Fairfield outfit played them to a 27-27 deadlock at half time. The defeat leaves Fairfield with an overall 6-15 record. Jim Kuhn and Jack Frantz led the Canners with 22 and 15 points while Johnny Sprinkle and Jim Ruth tallied 19 and 16 for the losers.

Bolts Surprise

Littlestown turned in a surprise at New Oxford by topping the Colonials 62-53. After the Bolts fell behind 11-8 in the first period, they picked up momentum in the second quarter which carried them to a 28-24 lead at intermission. Going into the final round they led 49-34. Ronnie Crouse, Jim Patterson and Jesse Sheely pumped through 19, 15 and 12 tallies for the winners. Steve Naylor and Phil Bankert landed 16 and 13 for New Oxford. The victory gives Littlestown a season record of 6-14. New Oxford ended with a 10-11 mark.

Bermudian wound up with an 11-9 overall record by clobbering Big Spring at East Berlin 74-42 in a 29-point production by Charley Chronister. The winners grabbed a 23-11 lead in the first period and were never in trouble thereafter. MacMillan was high man for the Bulldogs with 18 points.

Webb, 27, is a 9-7 favorite. In 1954, he knocked out Boyd in the sixth round of a preliminary bout. Both are ranking middleweight contenders, Webb holding the No. 3 spot and Boyd No. 7.

The bout will be the first promotion of National Boxing Enterprises, Inc., formerly the Chicago branch of the court-dissolved International Boxing Club.

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Former pro football great Otto Graham today was named head football coach at the Coast Guard Academy.

Graham also was appointed director of athletics.

Rear Adm. Frank A. Leamy, superintendent of the academy, said the former Cleveland Browns quarterback will become a commander in the Coast Guard Reserves with his acceptance of the position.

Graham will arrive in New London Sunday and begin spring practice sessions on Monday. He replaces Nelson W. Nitchman, who was relieved of the position in November after 12 years at the academy.

Bullets Finish Home Campaign Here Tonight

Elizabethtown College, 10-8, winner of its last three basketball games and with a possible bid to the NAIA tournament riding on the outcome of its final three games, will oppose the Gettysburg College Bullets here tonight in the final home game of the season for Coach Bob Hulston's squad.

Coach Don Smith of the Bluejays has been contacted by NAIA officials said it is no secret a victory over the Bullets would greatly enhance his team's chances of receiving a bid.

The Bullets, 12-10, can assure themselves of at least a 500 mark via a victory tonight. They have three more away engagements to wind up the season.

At 6:45 the Gettysburg freshmen will go after their 12th straight victory against the Elizabethtown junior varsity.

The game was classified as an upset but the boys from Lancaster were fired up and played a fine brand of basketball. Ed Maley, high-scoring Crusader, broke a court record by dunking 14 goals and seven out of 12 fouls for 35 points. The previous record was 33, set back in 1953.

Coach John Flaherty decided to go all the way with a few of the players who will form the nucleus of next year's squad. One of the Squire performers who made quite an impression was Bill Solomon, a Gettysburg boy, who is in his junior year at Delone. Solomon, 6-4, tallied nine of his team's points and did a remarkable job under the boards.

The teams played an even first period but two final goals by Mike Kostecy and Maley gave the home team a 17-13 edge. The Crusaders came back in the middle two frames to tally 29 and 27 points respectively to the Squires' 15 and nine. Maley and Kostecy contributed the most, offensively and defensively.

Mike Staub, Delone's consistent second half ball player, found his mark in the final quarter but by this time Lancaster had almost doubled the visitors' score.

Besides Ed Maley's record breaking 35 points, Mike Kostecy chipped in with 16. Dan Miller and Mike Staub stopped the Squires' list with 10, followed by Bill Solomon and Jim Keffer with nine.

The Delone reserves broke a two-game losing streak by coming from behind to take a 50-40 decision over the Lancaster reserves.

Jeff Wagaman and Jim Livelsberger paced the winners with 19 and 17 points while Gene Trees captured 15 for Lancaster and Dick Heatter tallied seven.

On Friday Delone will take their 9-14 record against the Gettysburg Warriors 5-14 on the McSherrystown court. Earlier in the season the Warriors defeated Delone 41-36.

Highlights In

The Life Of Christ

He Teaches In The Temple

Jesus grew up in Nazareth, where the neighbors thought of Him as the son of Joseph. His Mother taught the law to Him long before He went to school to learn to read and write, and He "advanced in wisdom and age and grace." It was Mary also who taught Jesus the precepts of His faith and who enrolled Him in a rabbinic school.

At twelve, Jesus was an adult male Jew, as responsible as His foster-father in religious duties. And so, in the month of Nisan, Jesus accompanied Mary and Joseph to Jerusalem for the Passover. When the Nazareth caravan left the holy city to return home, Jesus was nowhere to be found. Mary and Joseph, frantic with worry, said farewell to their friends and hurried back to Jerusalem. For three days they searched, but they could not find their Son.

"Pray For Help"

On the third day they went to the temple to pray for help. There, on one of the porticoes, they saw Jesus seated among the rabbis, listening to them propound the intricacies of the law, asking questions and answering questions. The rabbis seemed to be charmed with Jesus' intellect and knowledge.

"Child," Mary said, "why did you behave toward us in this way? Oh, our hearts were heavy—Your father's and mine—as we searched for You."

Jesus looked up at His mother. "Why did you search for Me?" He said. "I had to answer My Father's call, and did you not know it?" Neither Mary nor Joseph understood. His true Father was God the Father, and His Father lived here.

"An Obedient Son"

Still, He was an obedient Son. He stood and thanked the rabbis, and He left with His parents for Nazareth. From that time until Jesus was thirty-two years of age, a matter of 29 years, He lived in Nazareth, known only to His own family, His kinkfolk and His friends.

"It's just a joke; I wouldn't harm anybody," Strauch said at his arraignment.

FBI agents said Strauch threatened Siegel's life in a letter.

Predicts Trip To

Moon In 3 Hours

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—The Army missile program chief sees a spaceship of the future reaching the moon in 3½ hours.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris said Tuesday night he is positive the next 10 years will produce something other than the present chemical propulsion used in space exploration.

"The most fantastic of the conceivable propulsion systems, and the only one beyond presently known techniques, involves the production of thrust by the emission of photons, that is, by the emission of light energy," he explained.

Medaris told a Duke University engineering school audience that a photon-powered spaceship "should reach the moon in 3½ hours, the nearer planets in two days and would require only 3½ tons of fuel for the latter journey."

2 Lab Workers

Killed In Blast

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP)—Two employees of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory were killed in an explosion Tuesday.

Laboratory officials said no radioactive material or radiation were involved.

Victims were Leo G. Guerin, 35, Santa Cruz, N.M., and Raymond A. Means, 31, Los Alamos.

A spokesman said the accident took place during normal machining of a chemical explosive used to study the phenomena of shock waves. He said the explosive had been handled here several years without accident.

GOVERNOR

ASKS PMA FOR

HELP ON TAX

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gov. David L. Lawrence, the first Democratic governor ever to address the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn., made a plea last night for a 425-million-dollar tax program, including an increase in the 3 per cent sales tax.

"I need your help," he said at the PMA's 50th annual dinner. "I think that all of us have come to a place in the road where we must look around us and make an estimate as to where the old and bitter ways of politics have brought Pennsylvania."

The tax program, featuring a 3½ per cent sales tax, was proposed by the governor's bipartisan Tax Study Commission. Lawrence is expected to make the program the heart of his budget message to the state Legislature next Monday.

The tax program must clear the GOP-controlled Senate, and most of the Legislature's Republican members were at the dinner. The House is controlled by the Democrats.

Sharing the speakers' platform was Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah) who said inflation was threatening to destroy the nation's economy, and union leaders are mostly to blame.

Lawrence said that in addition to taxes, a good economic climate in Pennsylvania depends on good highways, water supply, flood control, education, airport construction and urban renewal.

Referring to the long-standing political difference between his party and the PMA, the governor said: "We have not exactly been blood brothers in the past."

Tribute For Grundy
But he added: "We have a framework on which to build agreement in the public mind and in the general assembly."

The governor paid a personal tribute to 96-year-old Joseph R. Grundy, former U. S. senator, Bristol manufacturer and a PMA founder.

Grundy has long been a target of Democratic criticism, but the governor described him as a man of courage, principle and ability in the management of men and politics.

At a luncheon, PMA President James F. Malone called for political activity by businessmen because they have an enormous stake in government.

The association elected four new directors. They are Philip L. Corson, president of G. & W. H. Corson Inc., Plymouth Meeting; Arlie L. Fox, president of James H. Matthews & Co., Pittsburgh; William H. Cosgrove, president of Swindell-Dressler Co., Pittsburgh; and H. M. Engell, Drexel Hill, former secretary of the PMA insurance companies.

HELD AS SMUGGLER

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—An eight-week investigation into reports of smuggling intoxicating beverages to inmates at Norristown State Hospital has resulted in the arrest of Wesley M. Taylor, 20.

Justice of the Peace Charles H. Jamison Tuesday held Taylor in $1,000 bail.

Sgt. Francis Haffey of the Jeffersonville state police barracks said the probe is continuing.

$100,000 IN BONDS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor purchased $100,000 in bonds for Israel at a testimonial banquet Tuesday night.

The gathering was a testimonial for comedian George Jessel. Much of the evening was given over to the sale of the bonds, a pet charity project of Jessel, who has been in show business 50 years. More than $1,250,000 in bonds were sold.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Backers of the proposed Keystone Shortway came here today to question Gov. Lawrence on the outlook for construction of the superhighway across the state between Sharon and Stroudsburg.

C. E. Noyes, Williamsport, executive director of the Keystone Shortway Assn., said eight members of the organization are seeking the governor's views on problems involved in constructing the Shortway.

PROSPECTS ON

MORE P.A. AID

SEEN GOOD FOR

UNIVERSITIES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Prospects for increased state aid to the four biggest universities in the Commonwealth were rated good today.

Gov. Lawrence said he would recommend substantial hikes in appropriations for the Pennsylvania State University, University of Pittsburgh and Temple University.

"We'll give them what we can and that will be a very substantial boost," he said.

No Exact Amounts

But the governor refused to be pinned down on exact amounts when the question was raised at his news conference Tuesday.

Precise figures will have to await presentation of his general fund budget to the Legislature next Monday night.

Penn. State, for example, already has asked for state aid exceeding 44 million dollars in contrast to the $29,700,000 it received in the current fiscal period ending next May 31.

All Ask Increases

The Pitt figure is about 15 million, compared with the 1957 grant of 8 million; Penn., 15 million compared with 8½ million; and Temple, $10,400,000 compared with $5,300,000.

Heads of the four colleges already have made speeches to alumni throughout Pennsylvania urging pressure on the Legislature to grant the sums requested to meet the challenge of the Sputnik era.

But Lawrence made it plain at his news conference that any figures voted beyond his budget would have to be made up by other votes to increase taxes.

400 Million In New Tax

The governor is expected to present a budget that would call for more than 400 million dollars in new tax revenue, most of it to offset and prevent recurrence of a 178-million-dollar deficit in the current biennium.

The House received a request Tuesday to make an investigation of the deficit, particularly the 44 million dollars in reduced estimates on sales tax collections.

The resolution, sponsored by Reps. Clarence D. Bell (R-Delaware) and John Stewart (R-Phila.), also asks if the Revenue Department has been efficient in collecting the 3 per cent levy.

To Act On Boehm Probe

Other legislative developments: Boehm probe—The Senate Rules Committee listed a meeting for next Monday to act on a proposal to investigate operations of the Public Instruction Department under Supt. Charles H. Boehm.

Lack of a quorum forced postponement of such action Tuesday when the Senate met in a token session before recessing until next week.

Mines investigation—A special 10-member legislative committee was expected to start next week its investigation of a Luzerne County mine disaster which has seen 12 men missing since Jan. 22.

Select Counsel

Rep. James J. Jump (R-Luzerne) said newspapers in the area would be asked to supply the identity of persons who wrote letters to the editors giving information on the mine flooding at the Knox Coal Co. operation.

The committee also named John E. Fullerton, Harrisburg, and Sidney Weinstein, Philadelphia, as its counsel in the investigation. Each will receive $150 a day for his work.

Industrial development—Gov. Lawrence planned to sign legislation appropriating $2,200,000 to break a four-month deadlock in granting state loans for industrial development.

The Legislature completed action Tuesday on a measure making the stopgap grant before a larger amount is approved later for the next two years.

Third Barn Burns

In Three Years

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP)—John Smith is about convinced he has been building his barn in the wrong place.

Fire destroyed his newest barn Tuesday with 4,000 bales of hay, 40 pigs and 7 brood sows.

It was the third time in three years flames have leveled Smith's barn on the same spot. The first two fires were caused by lightning. Tuesday's was blamed on a wiring defect.

Eugene C. Grace

Undergoes Surgery

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Eugene C. Grace, retired Bethlehem Steel executive, was discharged from St. Luke's Hospital Tuesday after undergoing what was described as minor corrective surgery.

The former president and board chairman of Bethlehem Steel has been ill for two years. He entered the hospital about two weeks ago. He had also been hospitalized in October and November. The nature of his illness has not been disclosed.

The 82-year-old Grace retired as Bethlehem's chief executive officer two years ago.

PSU RUNNER

NOT IN MILE

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Moran, Penn. State's 4:01.7 miler, won't compete in his pet event at the ICAA Championships in Madison Square Garden this weekend, Commissioner Asa Bushnell of Eastern Colleges Athletic Conference said Tuesday.

Instead Moran, who is captain of the Penn State team, will attempt a middle distance double by running in the 1,000-yard race and also anchoring the Lions' two-mile relay team. Penn State has another ace miler in Fred Kerr, who is expected to finish third or better.

There will be heats in both the 1,000 and the relay but the rest period between these two is 20 minutes longer than between the mile and the relay, which may have been another factor in Coach Chick Werner's decision to drop Moran into the shorter event. He will oppose Tommy Carroll of Yale and Norman Williams of Georgetown, among others.

Athletes from 50 colleges and universities are entered with seven of the teams—Penn State, Villanova, Army, Manhattan, New York University, Yale and Maryland—are expected to fight it out for the title.

Approve Pension

For Lloyd Wood

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Employees' Retirement Board has approved a $275-a-month pension for Lloyd H. Wood, former lieutenant governor and state senator.

Wood, who last served as chief clerk of the House, received his first retirement payment Jan. 7 on the basis of nearly 18½ years of state service.

His pension was among a number approved Tuesday by the board.

E. J. Henry, former state police commissioner in the Leader administration, was given a monthly pension of $642 for his more than 34 years of service in the state police. He retired last month.

OPPOSITION TO

LEWIS STRAUSS

FOR CABINET

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Democrats are building a piping bonfire under President Eisenhower's nomination of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce.

Strauss, one of Washington's more controversial figures, appears likely to get eventual confirmation if only because the Senate seldom in modern times has rejected a cabinet appointment.

But Sens. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) and some other Democrats are expected to direct a hot fire against the former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission before the appointment is acted upon by the Senate Commerce Committee.

Delay Consideration

The committee postponed consideration of the nomination, scheduled today, after Kefauver asked for a delay pending a Justice Department report on Strauss' role in the Dixon-Yates controversy.

Atty. Gen. Rogers meanwhile made public a letter to Kefauver saying there is no such investigation pending.

Kefauver contended in a statement Tuesday that Strauss arranged for a presidential directive requiring the AEC to contract with the Dixon-Yates utilities combine to build a power plant at West Memphis, Ark., to supply supplemental power to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The contract was canceled by presidential order after testimony before congressional committee showed Adolph Wenzel, New York financier, served as an adviser both to the Budget Bureau and to the utilities interests.

MOVE TO STOP

N. C. VIOLENCE

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Gov. Luther Hodges has warned union and management officials they bear "direct and personal responsibility" to prevent further violence in the bitter Henderson-Harriet Cotton Mill strike.

Negotiators received strongly worded telegrams from the Governor as they prepared to meet again today in an effort to end the 15-week dispute.

"The rising tensions and the continuance of acts of violence constitute a threat to the maintenance of law and order which cannot be condoned," Hodges declared.

He referred to three bombings, stoning and car-tipping incidents, threats against several workers, and an attack on vice president of the Textile Workers Union of America. All have occurred since company President John D. Cooper Jr. reopened the plants Feb. 16.

The company's 1,200 workers voted to strike Nov. 17 when management insisted that a provision calling for arbitration in settling disputes be left out of a new contract. The provision had been in effect 14 years.

Two Little Boys

Beat, Burn Baby

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two little boys, 4 and 5, were placed on dependent probation with their family in the fatal burning on a stove of a 9-month old baby last Jan. 23.

Larry Twigg, 4, and his brother, Gregory, 5, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Twigg, have been wards of Dependency Court since the death of the baby, Taylor Carter, son of Mrs. Ursula Carter, 25.

Police told Municipal Judge J. Sydney Hoffman the brothers admitted burning the infant and enacted how they beat the baby before they placed him on the stove while Mrs. Carter was out of the house.

FUNDS SOON

FOR EDUCATION

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania soon will receive $15,194 in federal education funds, officials of the Department of Public Instruction reported today.

Dr. Carl D. Morneweck, director of the department's Research Bureau, said the U. S. Education Office will allocate the money in the next two weeks.

The funds are provided for improving methods of collecting and disseminating statistical information.

The department said Tuesday each Pennsylvania school purchasing equipment under the federal Education Act will be reimbursed $3 for every secondary pupil enrolled.

The rate will be doubled after June 30, the department announced at a conference of central Pennsylvania school administrators. No figures have been fixed for elementary pupils.

To Crack Down

On 'Pike Speeders'

HARRISBURG (AP)—Turnpike speeders beware.

Gov. Lawrence says mere warnings have not been enough and that he has asked the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to issue orders to crack down on speeders to "stop the speed and carnage on the superhighway."

He told his new conference Tuesday that such orders have been transmitted to Joseph J. Lawler, commission vice chairman.

"I told Lawler we have to stop being lenient on the turnpike," Lawrence said.

CASTRO PLANS CLEAN-UP OF SCHOOL GRAFT

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government acted Tuesday to clean up graft in the nation's school system and hospital construction program.

The Cabinet approved a decree annulling hundreds of teachers' appointments to primary schools. They included 400 named by ex-President Fulgencio Batista and many others chosen by his education minister.

The Cabinet charged that many of the Batista appointments were for political purposes only and that some teachers drew pay for doing nothing.

Set Promotion Scale
The new law also set up a promotion scale for teachers.

The Cabinet authorized expenditure of $2,155,000 to complete 10 hospitals on which more than 16 million dollars already has been spent.

The government charged the expenditures to date were 60 per cent in excess of the real value. It said the contracts had been granted for personal gain and that some projects were unfinished after 14 years. It ordered the old contracts canceled and new ones issued.

The government also ordered suspension of pension payments to former congressmen who have been getting $500 a month.

Three Are Executed
A firing squad meanwhile silenced the last of three former officers branded as top war criminals by Castro's regime.

Former Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao, 45, was executed just before midnight, shortly after he had been condemned to death in a seven-hour trial and an insanity plea had been denied. He was convicted of assassination, homicide and robbery while fighting the guerrillas in Oriente province. Eleven other former soldiers and policemen were executed Monday, bringing the unofficial total to 328. Fourteen others were sentenced to death in Pinar del Rio province.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa) says he made a mistake in judgment in putting his 19-year-old college freshman son on his congressional payroll at $11,873 a year, the Des Moines Register said today.

In a copyrighted story from its Washington bureau, the newspaper quoted Carter as saying "I'm afraid I didn't have this thing in very good perspective and I'm going to correct it."

ARMS DEAL MAY INVOLVE CHINA

WASHINGTON (AP)—If a foolproof system to control armaments or nuclear weapons testing could be negotiated, Red China should be included in it, says the State Department's top Far East specialist.

But to include Red China, the system would have to be sound and workable, Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, told the Senate Disarmament subcommittee Monday.

Foolproof guarantees would be needed, he said, in light of what Robertson called broken promises and violations by Red China of truce and arms control agreements in Korea and Indochina.

Opposes Red China
Robertson, who has long opposed any diplomatic dealings with the Chinese Communists, said to include Red China in a world disarmament pact without adequate control measures might cause the free world to relax its vigilance.

Robertson took sharp issue with two previous witnesses, both former State Department officials, who suggested this might be a good time for Nationalist China to withdraw from Quemoy and Matsu islands.

Turning over the offshore islands to Red China would amount to appeasement and would not relieve tensions, Robertson said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—There are three tantalizing questions in Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's willingness to create a crisis over his demand that the Allies get out of West Berlin.

1. Why did he do it picking May 27 as a virtual deadline and Berlin as the place?

2. Is he willing to have a showdown with the West—even if it means war?

3. Is this the only crisis he has in mind for the West—or is it just the beginning of a series?

West Berlin, 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, represents many things which, added up, must provide a big headache to the Soviets.

It is a Western outpost and listening post deep within the Communist world, although its residents give their allegiance to West Germany.

It is a harbor for refugees from communism. Its glitter is a reminder to East Germans and East Europeans that living standards are higher in the West.

And the 10,000 troops the Allies have in West Berlin, through World War II agreement with the Soviets, are a symbol of Western power and authority behind the Iron Curtain.

These are all irritating reasons which may make Khrushchev want to get the Allied troops out of the city's Western zone.

If the Allies agreed to that—and right now they talk as if they won't—their grip on West Berlin would crumble.

Khrushchev's thinking may go way beyond these things. He may be using Berlin as an excuse to force the Allies into much broader concessions, such as demilitarizing West Germany.

There is something to be remembered about Berlin. Getting the Allies out of there is not something which has just occurred to the Soviets.

Stalin tried to force the Allies out in 1948 by blockading the city against supplies from the West. President Truman broke that with the airlift.

From that day to this—as if they had decided to subside until they were a lot stronger—the Soviets had not precipitated a frontal crisis with the West in Europe.

They are a lot stronger now, as their Sputniks show. Now Khrushchev may feel able to continue the unfinished work of Stalin who tried one maneuver after another to break the West's will to resist.

"Grave Problem" For PLCB Cited

HARRISBURG (AP)—Lt. Gov. John Morgan Davis today looked to the Legislature and Liquor Control Board to break up the concentration of retail licenses in some sections of cities.

He described the situation as a "grave problem" in a speech Monday night before a dinner marking the board's 25th anniversary.

"These are difficulties that can only be solved by seeking action on the part of the Legislature," said Davis. "It is my feeling that your senators and representatives on both sides of the aisle are keenly aware of the dangers of over concentration of retail licenses."

The Day Christ Died

over would not start until the morning) would celebrate the Feast of the Passover.

Servants Light Lamps

The little party had been walking across Jerusalem's southern section from the east to the west, where the wealthy families lived. A Jesus walked the narrow cobbled roads. He could see servants lighting lamps in the courtyards of the rich. Except for these lamps, or the tall candles of the poor, there was no real street lighting. The people of Palestine were usually indoors at night. They feared the roads at night, and roving bands of highwaymen accented the fear.

The roads were good. They had been built by the Romans, who used slave labor to build them in all of the provinces, and taxed the occupied country to pay for them. They were made in three layers; the bottom one was called stutamen, which was crushed stone mixed with cement; the second layer was called rudera, and was composed of fine gravel, rough stone and pottery chips; the top was of cobbles, cut square on all sides so that they were simple to fit together with a thin sand-the last part of the journey, heard the threefold blast of the temple's silver trumpets announcing a new day, and they knew that the Feast of the Passover was about to begin. Even though Judea was at present in bondage to Rome, the Jews were free to worship Yahweh as they pleased and they were also free to follow their own laws so long as those laws did not conflict with the interests of the Roman Empire.

Jesus Wanted Feast

Jesus wanted to have the feast with those who would carry His word to the world when He was gone. His mother understood the importance of His constant communion with the Twelve — it sometimes seemed as though He would never finish teaching them the many truths necessary to their apostolate — but she must have felt a pang of sadness that He would not sit with her for the four ritual cups of wine tonight. But the tenderness of His farewell to her compensated, in a measure, for His absence.

That morning Jesus had told Peter and John to go into Jerusalem to prepare for the feast. He had told them to enter the city by way of the Fountain Gate likely to occur on a big feast day, and it would start on the temple grounds in the court of the Gentiles.

Attitude Always Formal

The procurator was in Jerusalem. His official residence was in Caesarea, on the Mediterranean; but his presence was always required in Jerusalem at times like this. As governor, Pontius Pilate's attitude was always formal. He was a man of intellectuality; he was also capable of venom and cruelty in equal parts and he never missed an opportunity to lash his subjects verbally, symbolically or physically.

When he came to Jerusalem, Pilate had his choice of residences. Most often he chose Herod's palace near the west gate of the city because it was big and lavish and the courts were trimmed with alabaster. This was in the most exclusive section of Jerusalem, near the rich homes of Caiaphas, the high priest, and the father-in-law of the high priest, Annas.

Murdered His Sons

It was called Herod's palace and, at one time, it had been the home of Herod the Great — a man, who married ten times, murdered several of his sons, and

The usual table for a group meal at the time of The Last Supper was shaped like a U. It was placed about 12 inches from the floor, with couches for the diners to recline upon, as shown in this old drawing from Illustrated Cyclopedia of the Bible. Jesus' place would have been in the center, of course.

Had Good Highways

The architecture of all roads was convex, and rain drained off into a curbed ditch. The reason for the good highways was primarily military: to lessen the travel time for Caesar's legions. While they were built to unite the conquered countries with Rome and to expedite the delivery of merchandise, the roads were so engineered that they never united more than two provinces with each other.

Within Jerusalem, there was a small valley running from north to south, and the eleven men crossed this valley and climbed a short hill toward the west wall. Some paused to look back and, from this eminence, they could see the spikes atop the temple, set there to prevent defilement by birds.

Within the marble beauty of the temple, the high priest had been reading the twelfth chapter of Exodus. It was timed so that, as the final red tongue of sun disappeared, Caiaphas uttered the concluding words: "And the whole congregation of Israel shall kill it." As he said "kill," three Levites, standing over three lambs, lifted the jaws of the little animals and, with a single stroke, drew sharp knives across the three throats. By ritual, the killing had to be done in one stroke and the victim must not utter a cry.

In Priestly Robes

Caiaphas, as befitting the presiding officer of the Sanhedrin, stood composed in his priestly robes. He saw the priests rub salt into the flesh of the lambs, and, in silence he saw them remove the right foreleg and a part of the head of each animal as an offering to the priests of the temple — for the law said that this "shall be the priests' due from the people, from them that offer a sacrifice, the shoulder and the two cheeks."

The Apostles (The word Apostle refers here to one of "the Twelve." Disciple is used to describe anyone who believed that Jesus was the Messiah.) following Jesus on and, once inside, to look for a man carrying water. They must follow this man and, when they had come to his house, he would show them to a large room upstairs. They were to prepare the room for the feast and they must go to the city markets and buy a lamb and take it to the temple for sacrifice.

Big, Impetuous Man

The assignment was simple. Peter, a big, impetuous man who carried a short Roman broadsword at his side, led young John on the two-and-a-half mile journey to Jerusalem. Inside the Fountain Gate they identified their man easily because in Judea men seldom carried water. It was women's work. Jesus had not mentioned the name of the man, but both Apostles recognized him at once as the rich father of the young Disciple Mark.

He had led them up the big Roman steps, across the town to his home, through the courtyard and up a flight of outside stairs to a room which occupied all the second floor. A roasting oven was already there, and so was the equipment necessary to prepare and serve a dinner for thirteen men.

Lamb, Herbs, Spices

After buying a lamb, herbs and spices and making their sacrifice at the temple, Peter and John started back up the upstairs room from the western gate of the temple, the most direct route. They passed the big Roman gymnasium, and like good Jews, bowed their head and averted their eyes. The gymnasium had been built 150 years before by Antiochus, and here the Romans indulged in their sports and cruel games and held their public baths. Judeans were always scandalized by nakedness and they saw no joy in games or competitive sports.

The week, the city was heavy with Roman soldiers. Pontius Pilate, the procurator, always called additional troops up from the coast during the high holy days. If the Jews plotted revolt, or even a demonstration against their conquerors, it would be on his deathbed ordered the slaughter of all Jewish male babies up to the age of two. The current Herod, Antipas by name, called the Hasmonean Palace when he came to Jerusalem and this was down the slope of the westerly hill near the inner entrance to the temple. There was little intercourse between Pilate and Herod Antipas because the king had a grievance. The procurator had ordered some Galileans slain and Herod as king had resented the usurpation of power by the Roman and was impatient in the matter except to sulk.

He chose Pontius Pilate could have requisitioned Herod's home for his short stays in Jerusalem but by forbearing seemed to be looking for an opportunity to re-establish cordial relations with the king. Pilate's other choice of residence was the formidable Fortress Antonia which lay like a big stone against the heart of the temple.

Reside In Fortress

There in an ornate chest, the procurator held the vestments of the high priest and, under Roman dicta, unlocked them on the morning before high holy days and gave them to Caiaphas, who was bound to return them to the chest within eight days.

On this particular Passover, Pilate and his wife Claudia had taken up residence in the fortress. Peter and John threaded their way through the late-afternoon crowds. The city was jammed to the walls with citizens and travelers: the provincial Jews in rough garments, the Galileans with their soft drawl, the Gentile Greeks who dressed elegantly and vainly and who looked like rich tourists, the tough-looking Syrians who came down from the north to work the caravans or to enlist in Caesar's army, rich Jews from Egypt with their snowy robes and purple hems.

Lamb Is Roasted

When the two men again reached the upper room, the afternoon sun was already low and they hurried to build the fire and roast the lamb. It was forbidden to break any bone in the animal because it symbolized Israel, whole and undivided. Peter set the lamb in the brick and tile oven so that no part of its skin would touch the sides, while John fashioned the round, thin unleavened bread into little cakes. This was the matzo, ritually prepared bread, so called because the Jews ate it as they followed Moses and he had made of the tribes of affliction because the Israelites had left Egypt in such haste that their women had no time to leaven the bread.

They also made a salad from one of five kinds of bitter-tasting plants, to remind the diners that the bondage in Egypt was bitter. The two men filled a bowl with vinegar, in which the bitter leaves would later be dipped. Red wine was made ready — the poor were able to buy it at the temple at cost price — and this would later be mixed by the host in the measure of one part of water to four parts of wine. Finally Peter and John made charoseth, a dish consisting of almonds, figs, dates, wine and cinnamon. When properly mixed, charoseth is the color of common brick.

Jesus Studies Room

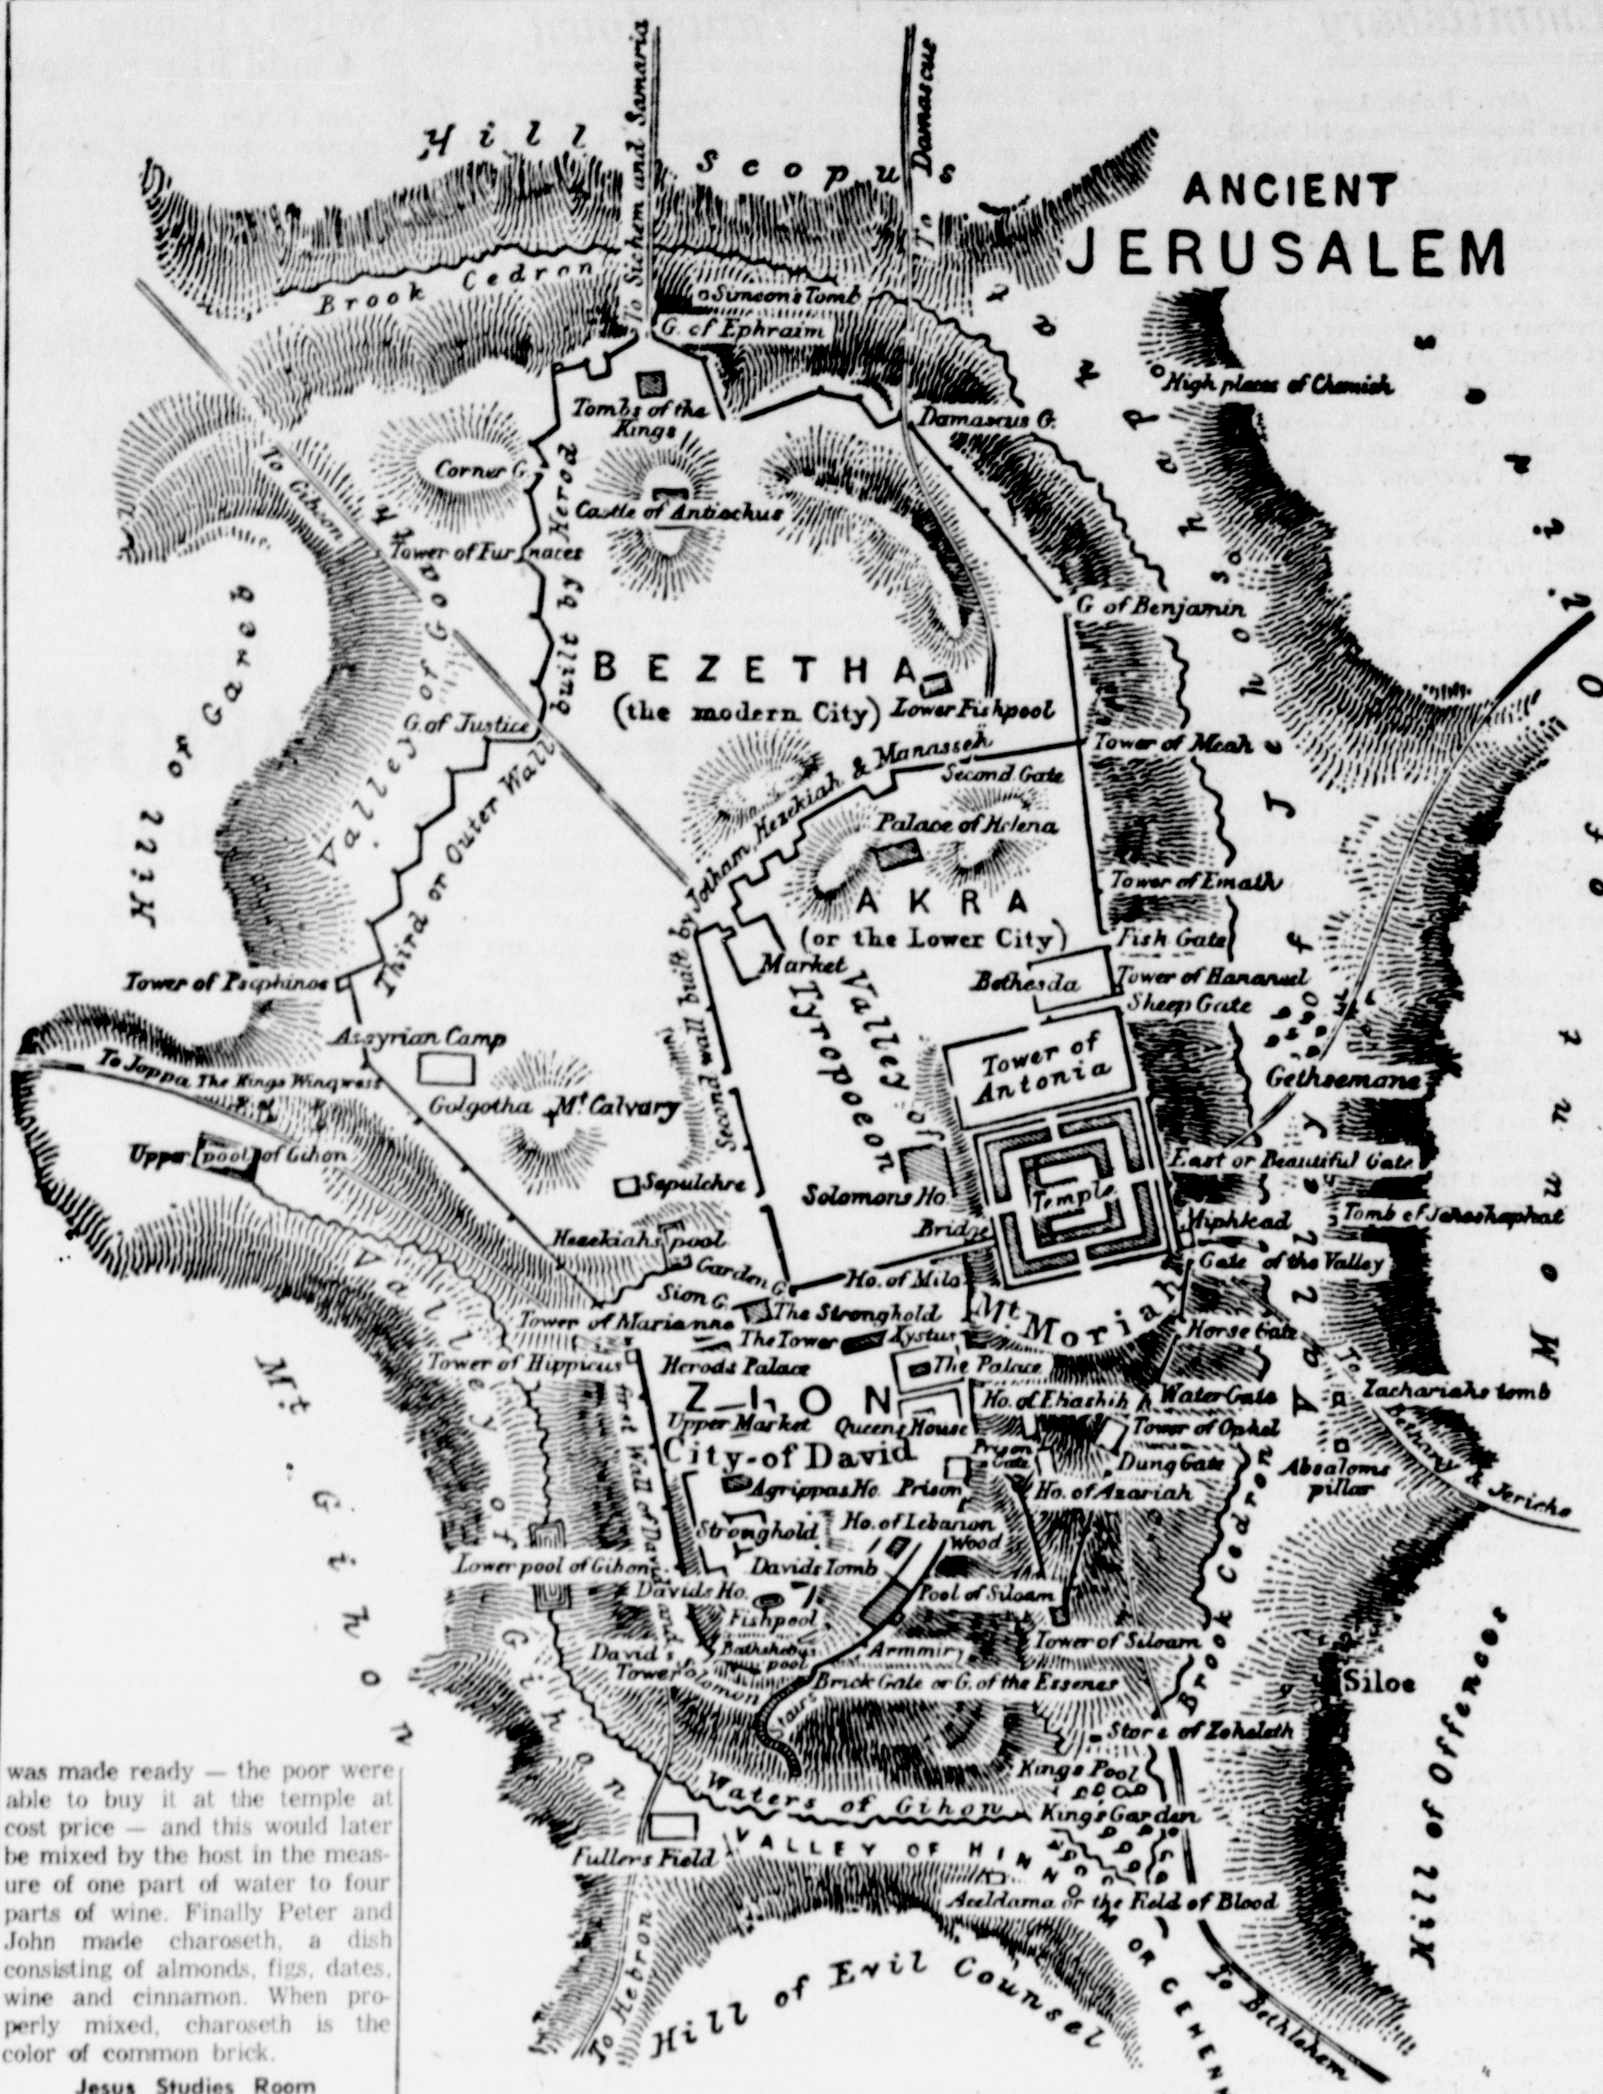

Their work was not finished when Jesus and the others walked upstairs and into the room. The greetings were subdued. Jesus studied the room carefully. This was, to Him, an important room, an important night. He did not discuss His feelings; to the Apostles He seemed abnormally introspective.

The twelve bearded men, averaging about thirty years of age, stood in twos and threes near the pillars supporting the roof and the middle of the room. It was shaped like a U about twelve inches above the floor. The open end of the U was nearest the entrance to the room — in this case, the top of the outside staircase — and the host, Jesus, would recline in the middle of the closed end. The servants set the table in

For many centuries, the Jews had taken their meals as they pleased, but the Greeks had pointed out that only free men are permitted to recline while eating, slaves must stand; and so the Jews had adopted the custom after they learned it from their conquerors, the Romans. On formal occasions, such as this, they ate from sloping couches around the outside of a low table shaped like a square capital U.

The couches from which Jesus and the Twelve ate were called triclinia. Among the Jews, the bottom part of the U was considered the side of special favor, and three places were set on that side. As host, Jesus would be in the middle. The place of honor was to His left, and Peter would recline there.

In the formality of Jewish dining, it was considered to be a higher station to be assigned to the lectus summus at the left hand of the host than to be in exactly the same place on the opposite couch; just as it was considered better to be, like Peter, to the left of the host — behind Him, in a sense — than to be behind Him on the right.

The place of second honor was to the right of Jesus, and this normally was the place of Judas, the treasurer, though on this night it would be taken by young John. The three would eat from a single low couch, the edge nearest the table being about the same height as their plates and the back edge much lower and open, so that the diner always approached the couch from the rear, lowered himself into it, propped three loose cushions to best suit his comfort, and then leaned on his left elbow, keeping the right hand free for eating.

Some Were Jealous

The Apostles had eaten with Jesus in the homes of the rich and they had eaten with Him sitting on hillside. Some of them were jealous of their assigned places in relation to the Master, and would try to fall on a couch as close as possible to Jesus. Tonight, as they waited for the signal to partake of the Passover, they stood in little groups talking and occasionally glancing at the Master. Jesus stood by Himself, waiting.

What is known of the characters and personalities of the Disciples? In tomorrow's installment, Mr. Bishop draws vivid, documented word portraits of the impetuous Peter; young John and his quiet brother James; Philip, the merry, witty, married man; Bartholomew, who dressed regally in fashionable clothes; Thomas, the balding worrier; the charming and learned Matthew; Judas whom women had accused of stealing money; and the others. You will want to be sure to continue the story here Thursday.

PONTIAC NAMED CAR OF THE YEAR

"Pontiac with wide-track wheels is the best combination of ride... handling... performance and styling of any '59 car" — The Editors of Motor Trend Magazine

In making its annual automotive award, the staff of Motor Trend Magazine, leading automotive publication, tests and evaluates all new cars. Here are quotations from the April 1959 issue:

"The stability of the 1959 Pontiac is the outstanding automotive advance of the year. Everyone considering a new car should experience it."

"It's the best balanced passenger car in America. We firmly believe that in moving the wheels farther apart, to develop the widest stance of any American car, Pontiac has created an entirely new sense of balance and handling security."

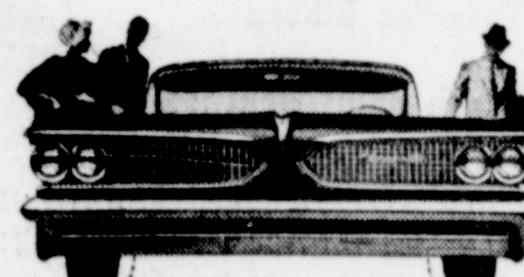

"Pontiac's lines are clean, simple and beautiful. It has a fleet look, a trim appearance. The wide wheel design contributes greatly to its over-all integrated styling. Any comparison with narrower track cars readily shows the difference."

"For the economy-minded, an efficient new engine. The new 420E Tempest economy engine offers remarkable performance along with exceptionally high mileage while operating on regular grade gasoline."

"Pontiac is again tops in performance, based on our extensive road testing. Acceleration is outstanding, yet the engine is unusually quiet and smooth."

Your nearest Pontiac dealer will be glad to let you road-test this award-winning automobile on your own. You'll see why it's the year's most talked-about car!

THE ONLY CAR WITH WIDE-TRACK WHEELS

Wheels are five inches farther apart. This widens only the stance, not the car. Pontiac takes a better grip on the road, hugs tighter on curves and corners. Sway and lean disappear, ride is smoother, balanced, steadier. Handling is easier. You drive with a new confidence, a comforting security. Pontiac gives you roadability no "narrow gauge" car can offer.

STRIKE LOOMS IN HAITI; FEAR GRIPS ISLAND

Editor's note: Thomas P. Whitney, Associated Press foreign news analyst, has just returned from one of his frequent visits in Haiti.

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The Negro republic of Haiti may become the next major trouble spot in the Caribbean.

Daniel Fignole, radical leader of the impoverished masses of the Haitian capital Port au Prince, has ordered his followers in a broadcast from Cuba to get ready for a general strike aimed at overthrowing the government of President Francois Duvalier.

Another exiled opposition leader, Louis Dejoie, who has strong influence in the upper class and among women and shopkeepers, has been broadcasting the same message in recent weeks.

Air Of Anxiety
Haitians listen to these broadcasts and there is an air of anxiety and expectancy.

Haiti is the ham in the Caribbean sandwich — stuck between two blood enemies, Fidel Castro's new Cuba and Rafael Trujillo's tough dictatorship in the Dominican Republic.

This uncomfortable position combines with a desperate economic crisis, with continuing hatreds among Haitian political factions and with the absence of an efficient government based on popular support, to add up to an unstable situation which could explode at any time.

Army-Run Election

President Duvalier was voted into office in an army-run election in September 1957 after 10 months of political turmoil following the ouster of strongman President Paul Magloire. Duvalier has virtual dictatorial powers. He gives the impression now of a man of arbitrary temperament with jittery nerves.

In January Duvalier, under the shock of Castro's success in Cuba, attempted to remove the stigma of dictatorship from his regime by freeing all political opponents whom he had jailed, including some sentenced to death. A liberalization of his rule was proclaimed.

Clamping Down Hard

But now, in fear of an invasion by his Haitian opponents from Cuba, Duvalier is clamping down hard and uttering dire threats. He has banned all exit visas for Haitians—presumably to hold within the country any who would like to join anti-Duvalier forces.

In firebrand declarations during impromptu speeches he has declared that should his enemies seek to overthrow him he would unleash a total revolution and not leave one stone on another in Port au Prince.

Would Repeal Two Business Taxes

HARRISBURG (AP)—Two Pennsylvania business taxes would be repealed under legislation introduced in the House by a Blair County Republican.

Rep. Charles A. Auken sponsored two bills Tuesday that would abolish the capital stock excise and corporate loan taxes.

Former Gov. Leader's Tax Advisory Committee in 1956 described the excise tax as "actually a penalty payment." It produces about 3½ million dollars a biennium. The corporate loan tax yields about 1½ millions a biennium.

Auken proposed in a companion measure that the city of Philadelphia and counties be authorized to levy the corporate loan tax.

TO ASK EDITORS FOR LETTERS ON MINE FLOODING

By BOB HOLTON

HARRISBURG (AP)—Newspaper editors may be asked to submit to a legislative investigating committee any letters received referring to mine flooding in Luzerne County.

"Every day I see letters published in newspapers in the area in which the writer claims to know something yet unrevealed about the disaster," said Rep. James J. Jump (R-Luzerne).

Jump made the statement as he and other members of a Senate-House committee mapped final plans for public hearings on the cause of the Knox coal mine disaster near Pittston last Jan. 22.

Twelve men still are missing in the tragedy.

Seek Interviews

"Many of the letters which I have seen in the newspapers do not carry the names of the writers and I think the committee should ask to see those letters to see if they can determine who wrote them," Jump said.

"If we can determine who wrote the letters, the committee would have the chance to interview the writers and determine if the statements they made are true or just rumors."

"I am sure the publisher of these newspapers would be glad to cooperate in this matter if in any way could shed some light on the tragedy."

'HAMLET' ON TV CALLED "SUPERIOR"

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The Old Vic Company presented a superb television version of "Hamlet" on CBS-TV Tuesday night.

An excellent adaptation by producer-director Ralph Nelson and Michael Benthal, director of the Old Vic, offered the main elements of William Shakespeare's four-hour tragedy in 75 minutes. They chose to make "Hamlet" a swiftly paced action drama in 19th century court style.

The "Du Pont Show of the Month" production did not linger over rhetoric. It suggested the meanings of character that have beguiled readers and theatergoers for centuries. Limited in its playing time, it necessarily sacrificed depth of meaning to intensity of action.

Ophelia Too Mature

One result, in the opinion of one viewer who saw the company's Broadway production, was that John Neville as Hamlet came off better on television than on stage. Neville in the role of Hamlet lacks the emotional depth of a John Gielgud. But in the decision to play the tragedy on TV as a fast drama of sinister intrigue, there was little time for profundity.

Barbara Jefford was too mature for the role of Ophelia. Oliver Neville as Claudius, Margaret Courtenay as Gertrude, John Humphry as Laertes and Joseph O'Connor as Polonius were capable but not distinguished.

However, as a result of brilliant direction and a beautiful production in all-white sets, the players proved to be less important than the play itself.

Jobless Pay In '58

Was $443,837,000

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Bureau of Employment Security says it distributed $443,837,000 in jobless benefits last year.

In a report Tuesday, the bureau said unemployment compensation payments totaled $385,126,000. An additional $48,691,000 was distributed under a federal extension of compensation during the 1958 recession.

Compensation benefits in Philadelphia totaled $85,226,000 — the state's largest. The second highest expenditure was Pittsburgh's $31,061,000.

Other cities where more than 10 million dollars was spent during the year: Wilkes-Barre $11,238,000; Johnstown $11,640,000; McKeesport $11,439,000, and Erie $11,255,000.

what went on down there that day."

Want All Facts

Jump told The Associated Press that he has heard many statements second and third hand regarding what some person knew about the disaster.

"If anybody knows anything that we don't, it should be brought out now so we can get to the bottom of this thing," he said.

He admitted he was not sure if the committee, even with subpoena powers, had the authority to demand any letters written to the newspapers.

Meanwhile, 40 state and federal experts continued their study of the disaster in an effort to set up means of preventing any similar flooding in the future.

HOUSE OKAYS BILL ON AUDITS

HARRISBURG (AP)—House approval was stamped today on bills giving municipalities control over firemen's pension funds.

The lower chamber Tuesday passed and sent to the Senate bills granting local auditors or controllers authority to audit the funds, thus stripping that power from the state auditor general.

The vote for both bills was 166-18. Rep. Maurice Goldstein (R-Allegheny) tried unsuccessfully to have action deferred until next week.

Goldstein questioned whether there would be proper supervision without a state audit. He noted that an Allegheny County Grand Jury had once found improper use of these funds by several volunteer fire companies.

Rep. Harris G. Breth (D-Clearfield), one of the bill's sponsors, replied that the companies have since taken steps to eliminate abuses.

The funds are supported entirely by the 2 per cent tax paid by out-of-state fire insurance companies on the premium they collect.

MOVIE CENSOR BILL OFFERED

HARRISBURG (AP)—Minors would be prohibited from viewing films that might incite to violence under a new movie censorship bill before the Senate today.

The measure would permit the state to disapprove films considered objectionable. It was introduced Tuesday by Sen. William J. Lane (D-Washington).

The State and U. S. Supreme Courts ruled several years ago that the Commonwealth had no authority to censor movies after mandatory viewing. The old law required all films shown in the state to be viewed and approved.

Lane said he thought the change in emphasis from blanket "approval" of movies to "disapproval" of objectionable films would make the law constitutional.

His proposal would make it unlawful to exhibit films to minors under 18 years if the films suggest that crime pays or that use of narcotics "is pleasant, profitable, desirable, harmless or acceptable behavior."
